

We understand what it takes to be a best in class Manufacturing organisation

Manufacturers continue to face a myriad of challenges and volatility within the sector. To remain competitive, manufacturers must become more efficient and innovative in their approach, leveraging technology to improve employee productivity, offer new business models and mitigate risk.

To respond to these challenges, manufacturers see digitisation, AI and automation as top drivers of productivity and profitability in the next 5 years.

Source: McKinsey Global Survey on CxO Productivity 2021

Hitachi Solutions understand first-hand the challenges facing manufacturing organisations

Our experts know that automation, advanced analytics and machine learning can generate step changes in productivity, flexibility and speed, and help organisations overcome their primary operational challenges.

Companies have reported the following improvements to key financial and operational metrics after digitalisation:

30%

Reductions in inventory and cost of goods sold

50%

Reductions in the cost of quality

30%

Improvements in cash and productivity

What is Catalyst?

The engagement incorporates several workshops designed to understand your organisations objectives, the business value of a Microsoft solution and your potential solution roadmap.

Our approach here at Hitachi Solutions will help you create something bespoke that best delivers on your business needs.

Through Catalyst we help organisations to:

- ☑ Define change and establish an understanding of how transformation initiatives will affect your organisation
- ☑ Create an integrated and end-to-end supply chain vision
- ☑ Adapt quickly and reduce business risks by enabling scenario-based capacity and supply network planning capability through harnessing the power of data

Catalyst delivers:

- ☑ Digitalisation, enabling greater business efficiency and engagement across their workforce
- ☑ Technology roadmaps and lifetime services that reduce, not increase technology debt
- ☑ Internal capability, building centres of excellence and competency based on our unrivalled experience

Typical Catalyst journey with Hitachi Solutions:

Get in touch with our experts

Reach out to our dedicated Design Thinking team, for more information on how Catalyst can accelerate your supply chain transformation.

Contact Us

For further information please contact:

UK.enquiries@hitachisolutions.com

+44 (0)204 5526 8510

www.hitachi-solutions.co.uk